Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(e) the invention was described in (1) an application for patent, published under section 122(b), by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent or (2) a patent granted on an application for patent by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent, except that an international application filed under the treaty defined in section 351(a) shall have the effects for purposes of this subsection of an application filed in the United States only if the international application designated the United States and was published under Article 21(2) of such treaty in the English language.

Claims 1, 10, and 11 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(e) as being anticipated by Gao et al. (U.S. Patent No. 7,285,623 B2).

Gao et al. discloses and claims the human neurotrimin protein. The claimed SEQ ID NO: 523 corresponds identically to instant SEQ ID NO: 3 and completely contains instant SEQ ID NO: 4. See at least abstract, claims, Figure 222, columns 107-108 and 176, and sequence listing of Gao et al.

Gao et al. claims and is entitled to benefit of provisional application 60/079,294 filed March 25, 1998, for disclosure of the claimed polypeptide and compositions containing it. This date is prior to the filing date of applicant's Japanese priority document, namely May 14, 1998.
